

Is Money Laundering Occurring ?

The subject of Hunter Biden selling access to his father has been reported for months, and still only a few news outlets are telling the story.

When his father was Vice-President, Hunter reportedly got a high paying job with Burisma. He also apparently got special favors from high ranking persons from Russia and China. But still, nobody cares. Then Hunter took his laptop in for repair and forgot to pick it up. The FBI was notified and took charge of the return after the computer repair shop found disturbing files on the hard-drive. But still, nobody cares.

Now that Joe Biden is President of the United States, the issue of immediate family making money is being brought back into light, but how can it be done so it looks legit? Well it turns out that Hunter has miraculously turned into a prodigal artist with no training, no artist education. He simply uses a straw, possibly after he is finished sucking down some crack cocaine. This by any stretch of the imagination is absolutely unbelievable. It is surprising that Hunter didn't have a hooker bend over, blow some paint on her butt through a straw, then wipe her butt onto the canvass. Reportedly, the so-called paintings may be sold for as much as $500K, and the buyers will supposedly be anonymous. That's a lot of blow.

The point here is when it comes to the security of the United States, it is imperative that the man at the top submit to transparency for the entire family and stop hiding the apparent corruption being orchestrated by the Biden family. With Joe's dementia setting in, it is unlikely that he even knows what is going on. But Americans are now getting to know Joe, probably more than what Joe wants. A rose by any other name is still a rose, and money laundering is still money laundering.